Vision Super is a profit for members superannuation fund with a proud heritage of delivering quality services to its members. We understand that your investment with us reflects the trust you place in our capabilities and reputation. That is why we place members financial interests first. As a profit for members fund, we try to keep member fees and costs as low as possible without compromising our investment performance and service.

Vision Super Saver is a product of Vision Super. Vision Super Saver is open to employees of employers who nominate Vision Super as their default fund or who register their employees as members of Vision Super. This PDS is about Vision Super Saver and the features and options it offers.

MySuper and Choice members

Vision Super is a MySuper authorised fund.

All contributions for new Vision Super Saver members who do not make an investment selection are invested in the default Balanced growth investment option (a MySuper product). If you have any investment in the default Balanced growth investment option, you are a MySuper member. Members who do not have any investment in the default Balanced growth investment option are Choice members.

Choice and MySuper members have access to identical insurance and services. Vision Super offers 11 investment options to Vision Super Saver members, five premixed options (including the Balanced growth investment option) and six single sector options. This lets you mix and match your investments to suit your goals. Vision Super also offers a range of insurance options for Vision Super Saver members.

2. How super works

Superannuation (super) is a long-term investment which is, in part, compulsory and the sooner you start putting money into your account, the better off you can be when you retire. Tax concessions and other government benefits generally make super one of the best long-term investment vehicles.

Types of super contributions

Generally, if you are 18 years of age or over (or under 18 years of age, and working more than 30 hours per week), your employer is required to pay compulsory superannuation guarantee (SG) contributions for you. Most working people can choose the fund to which their employer pays their SG contributions. If you don't provide your new employer with complete information on which fund you want contributions paid into, your employer will generally pay your contributions into your 'stapled fund' (as notified to your employer by the Australian Taxation Office). This is usually your most recently 'active' super fund. If you don't have a stapled fund and haven't chosen your own fund, SG contributions will generally be made to your employer's nominated default super fund. In some instances, you may have no choice due to the terms and conditions of your employment. Any contributions made by your employer are called concessional contributions.

Concessional contributions also include tax deductible super contributions, for which you have claimed a deduction (also referred to as personal deductible contributions).

You can also make voluntary contributions out of your after-tax earnings or savings (called non-concessional contributions) or, by arrangement with your employer, pay additional employer contributions through salary sacrifice out of your pre-tax salary (which are also called concessional contributions).

If you're a low to middle income earner, and make additional after-tax contributions to your super, you may also be eligible for a government co-contribution.

Super's tax-effectiveness is due to tax concessions provided by the federal government. Concessional contributions are generally subject to a maximum 15% tax rate. Where your total annual concessional contributions exceed the limit set by the government, additional tax is generally payable. The tax rate on concessional contributions for individuals with income greater than $250,000 pa (including their concessional contributions) is generally 30%. Please refer to Section 7 of this PDS on How super is taxed.

Once your contributions are in the Fund, the investment earnings on those contributions are taxed at a concessional rate up to 15% pa. When you reach 60, you pay no tax on withdrawals.

There are limits to the amounts you can contribute or withdraw from your super. Visit the Australian Securities and Investments Commission website, moneysmart.gov.au, and the Australian Taxation Office website, ato.gov.au for more information on super. If your account or your MySuper/choice portion of your account is less than $6,000, has no insurance and is 'inactive', we will transfer it to the ATO. Generally, it will be inactive if in the last 16 months there have been no contributions or rollovers, no changes to investment options or insurance and you have not made or changed a binding nomination on the account.

4. Risks of super

All investments carry risk, including the investments you have access to as a Vision Super Saver member. Super funds invest in a diverse range of assets, including Australian and overseas shares, property, bonds, infrastructure and cash which are included in different investment strategies. Each investment asset class has a different risk profile depending on the assets that reflect its investment strategy.

Assets offering the highest long-term returns, such as equities, generally also carry the highest level of short-term risk. The significant risks that may be relevant to your Vision Super Saver investment include:

- > Equity risk
- > Inflation and interest rate risk
- > Credit risk
- > Liquidity risk
- > Currency risk
- > Operational risk
- > Changes to government policy and legislation
- > Climate/ESG risk.

Investment strategies usually involve balancing the potential returns from chosen investments with the risks associated with them. Diversifying investments is a strategy that allows money to be allocated to a range of assets in order to manage risk, which includes reducing the volatility (up and down fluctuations) of investments.

The appropriate level of risk for you will depend on a variety of factors, including your age, your investment timeframe, whether you have other savings outside of super, and your risk tolerance.

Investment returns are not guaranteed. Over time, the value of your super may go up and down. The level of investment earnings will vary and the returns you receive in the past may not be the same as those you receive in the future. There is a risk that you may lose money or that the cost of living increases faster than your super grows, leaving you with inadequate savings for your retirement.

Superannuation and tax laws may change in the future affecting your financial and retirement planning. You should try to stay informed about changes to superannuation and tax laws and consider how these changes may affect you.

The information about risks shown here is general information only and does not consider your objectives, financial situation or needs. It may be worth consulting a professional financial adviser to assist in developing an investment and savings strategy that will help you achieve your retirement goals, taking into account your personal circumstances (including risk tolerance).

More information about how super works is set out in our additional guide titled 3. Benefits of investing with Vision Super – additional guide. You should read the important information in this guide before making a decision.

Please note the material in this guide may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product.

More information about the risks of investing in super is set out in our additional guide titled 4. Risks of investing in super – additional guide. You should read the important information in this guide before making a decision.

Please note the material in this guide may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product.

5. How we invest your money

You should consider the likely investment return, risk and your investment timeframe when choosing the MySuper product or other investment option to invest in. Past performance may not be a reliable guide of future performance. Neither the Trustee, nor any employees or directors of the Trustee, guarantee the repayment of contributions or the performance of the Fund or its investment options.

Vision Super Saver's range of investment options allows you to choose investments suited to your financial goals and tolerance to risk.

You can invest in one or more of the following Vision Super Saver investment options:

Premixed	Single sector
Growth	Just shares
Balanced low cost	Australian equities
Balanced growth	International equities
Balanced	Innovation and disruption
Conservative	Diversified bonds
	Cash

If you do not nominate an investment option, we will invest your super (both contributions and accumulated savings) in the default Balanced growth option (the investment option our MySuper product is invested in). More details on this option are set out below. We may vary, add or remove investment options occasionally. We will advise you in advance if this happens, where possible. You can switch between investment options to suit your changing financial goals but be aware that doing so may incur a buy-sell spread (see '6. Fees and Costs – additional guide'). You can switch between investment options via the secure members' area of the website at visionsuper.com.au, or by completing and lodging the Investment choice election form. Using either method, you can change your investment strategy for your existing account balance, your future contributions or for both.

More information about how we invest your money (including about all our investment options) is set out in our additional guide titled 5. How we invest your money – additional guide. You should read the important information in this guide before making a decision.

Please note the material in this guide may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product.

Summary risk level

High

Expected frequency of a negative annual return[#]

4 to less than 6 in 20 years.

Minimum investment period

6 years

[#] The risk of negative returns is based on a Standard Risk Measure in industry guidance and allows members to compare investment options that are estimated to deliver a similar number of negative annual returns over any 20-year period. This Risk Measure is not a complete assessment of all forms of investment risk. For instance, it does not state what the size of a negative return could be or indicate the potential for a positive return to be less than a member may require to meet their objectives. It also does not take into account the impact of administration fees and tax on the likelihood of negative returns.

6. Fees and costs

The fees and costs summary below shows the fees and other costs that you may be charged, if you are invested in the Balanced growth option, which is the investment strategy for Vision Super's MySuper product, and can be used to compare fees and costs between different superannuation products. These fees and other costs may be deducted from your money, from the returns on your investment or from the assets of the superannuation entity as a whole.

The fees and costs for other investment options are different. You should read all the information about fees and other costs, including information set out in our additional guide titled 6. Fees and costs – additional guide, because it is important to understand their impact on your investment.

Consumer advisory warning

Did you know? Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long-term returns. For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30-year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000). You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs. You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the fund or your financial adviser*. To find out more If you would like to find out more or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) Moneysmart website (moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation calculator to help you check out different fee options.

*Fees and costs for Vision Super Saver are not negotiable.

7. How super is taxed

The following is a summary of the key tax rules specifically relating to superannuation. These tax rules are complex and frequently change. In some circumstances, other tax rules may also be relevant.

For more information visit ato.gov.au or consider whether you should consult a taxation adviser.

Super taxes

Various taxes are payable in relation to super including:

Contributions tax

All employer contributions including salary sacrifice contributions and any personal (member) contributions for which a tax deduction is claimed, are usually subject to contribution tax of up to 15%. Individuals with income greater than $250,000 pa (including their concessional contributions) may be required to pay contributions tax of 30% while low-income earners may receive a rebate of the 15% tax on their employer contributions. Any contributions you make from your after-tax earnings or savings are usually not taxed.

There are government-imposed limits on contributions, both pre-tax and after-tax, that can be made to super each year. The limits apply to all your super contributions (not just the contributions made to Vision Super).

You should be aware that if you exceed the contribution limits, additional tax will be payable.

In some cases, the additional tax can be paid from your account. But, in other cases, you will have to pay the extra tax out of your own pocket. These tax rules are complex. For more information visit ato.gov.au or consider whether you should consult a taxation adviser.

Taxes on investment earnings

Vision Super Saver's investment earnings are subject to tax at a maximum rate of 15% pa.

Taxes on withdrawals

Tax is also payable on any withdrawals of your benefits in cash depending on your age, the amount and whether your benefit consists of a tax-free component and/or taxable component. Once you turn 60, no tax will apply to any withdrawals (lump sums or income streams/pensions).

Special tax arrangements apply to some benefit payments, for example, death benefits (which are usually tax free if paid to a tax dependant), terminal illness benefits (which are tax free if certain conditions are met) and Departing Australia Superannuation Payments (where different tax rates apply).

Tax File Numbers

One of the most important things to do when you become a member of Vision Super Saver is provide us with your tax file number (TFN).

Any taxes payable by the Trustee to the ATO are deducted from member accounts or investment earnings (as applicable) and remitted to the ATO when due.

You should provide your tax file number as part of acquiring this product.

We are authorised under the law to collect, use and disclose your TFN. Your employer may be obliged to provide your TFN to us. However, this does not always occur. We can only use your TFN for lawful purposes. These purposes may change in the future as a result of legislative changes. We disclose your TFN to another superannuation provider when your benefits are being transferred, unless you instruct us in writing that your TFN is not to be disclosed to another provider. You are not obliged to provide us with your TFN. However, if you do not, you may pay more tax than you need to, we won't be able to accept all permitted types of contributions for you or it may be more difficult to identify all your super entitlements. If you are unsure whether Vision Super has your TFN, you can call our Contact Centre on 1300 300 820.

For information about how tax applies to super contributions, investment earnings, withdrawals and how super works see moneysmart.gov.au and ato.gov.au. Tax rates and thresholds may vary from year to year. Up-to-date information is available from the ATO's website at ato.gov.au/Rates/Key-superannuation-rates-and-thresholds/.

More information about how super is taxed is set out in our additional guide titled 7. How super is taxed – additional guide. You should read the important information in this guide before making a decision.

Please note the material in this guide may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product.

8. Insurance in your super

Default death and total and permanent disability (TPD) insurance cover as well as income protection (IP) insurance cover will automatically be provided to eligible members when you are:

- > Aged 25 years or older; and
- > Your account balance reaches $6,000, or more
- > Your employer is paying super contributions into your account.

Default cover is subject to meeting all eligibility criteria* included in our insurance policy.

New members who are under age 25 and/or have an account balance less than $6,000 but meet the other eligibility criteria* can opt-in to commence default cover earlier. An opt-in election can only be made before reaching the age 25/$6,000 account balance criteria.

In the case of casual employees, the earliest death only default cover can commence is from the beginning of the quarter after the $6,000 balance is reached.

An opt-in election can be made online via our secure members' portal or by writing to us. Cover will commence from the date we receive your request and a superannuation contribution from your employer.

A two-year pre-existing condition exclusion (PEC) applies from the commencement date of default cover. This means that if you make a claim within the first two years for a condition that is pre-existing your claim will not be paid.

The costs associated with any insurance cover are deducted from your account balance. You are responsible for ensuring your account has sufficient funds available to meet the ongoing premium costs.

Unless you choose to cancel your default death, TPD and IP cover, the cost of the cover will continue to be deducted from your account (see further details in this section).

*Refer to page 7 of this PDS and to page 3 of 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for further information about eligibility criteria for default death, TPD and income protection cover.

8. Insurance in your super (continued)

You can opt out of default cover at any time after it commences. Please refer to 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for more information.

If you die or become totally and permanently disabled (TPD) and satisfy the relevant policy conditions, the insured benefit will be paid into your account as a lump sum. If you satisfy the relevant policy conditions) for income protection (IP) cover, a monthly benefit will be paid to you directly from the insurer after the waiting period. The amount of any insured benefit depends on the level of cover applicable to you, which can differ with age (unless you have fixed cover) and your employment status (casual or non-casual) as advised to us by your employer. It is your responsibility to ensure your employer advises Vision Super of any change in your employment status, for example if you become permanent.

Death only and death and TPD cover ceases at age 70. IP cover ceases at age 65. Insurance cover can also cease in other circumstances.

Default death and TPD cover for eligible non-casual employees

In addition to the eligibility criteria*, our default cover is 3 units of age-based death and TPD insurance. If you are under age 60, you can apply to convert age-based cover to fixed cover at any time. Please refer to 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for full sum insured and cost tables. Terms and conditions apply.

Default income protection cover for eligible non-casual employees aged less than 65 years

In addition to the eligibility criteria*, a permanent full time or part time employee whose annual salary is over $7,999 pa and under age 65, will automatically receive the equivalent units of IP cover to insure up to 75% of your annual salary (as notified by your employer) at the date the cover commences and to a maximum of 16 units (equating to a salary of $128,000 pa). The default waiting period is 60 day with a 2 year benefit payment period.

Cover is provided as units and each unit equals $500 monthly benefit. You may apply, within 60 days of receiving your letter from the Fund confirming the commencement of IP cover, to reduce the waiting period to 30 days or to increase cover to 85% of annual salary (any benefit over 75% of annual salary is paid as a superannuation contribution). Higher insurance fees will apply. Application to reduce the waiting period and/or increase the level of cover, you may be required to answer the insurer's underwriting questions and/or provide medical evidence. All applications are subject to the insurer's approval, and may also be subject to certain exclusions, special conditions and/or premium loadings.

Members with the following employers do not receive default Income Protection cover: Shire of Strathbogie, Yarriambiack Shire Council, Borough of Queenscliffe.

Default death cover for eligible casual employees

In addition to the eligibility criteria*, our default cover is 3 units of age-based death only cover that commences at the beginning of the quarter after your account balance reaches $6,000. If you are under age 60, you can apply to convert your age-based cover to fixed cover at any time. Please refer to 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for full sum insured and cost tables. Terms and conditions apply.

*Refer to this page and to page 3 of 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for further information about eligibility criteria for default death, TPD and income protection cover.

Applying for additional cover

If you are not eligible for default insurance or the amount of cover is not enough, you can apply for additional cover at any time.

Applications for additional cover are subject to acceptance by the insurer and generally require medical evidence. Acceptance may be subject to certain exclusions, special conditions and/or premium loadings.

The maximum level of cover you can have is:

- > $5 million death cover
- > $2.5 million TPD cover, and
- > $30,000 per month IP cover.

Your TPD cover cannot exceed your death cover and you cannot have TPD-only cover. Death only or death and TPD cover must be age-based or fixed cover, but not a combination of the two.

If you are a non-casual employee who is not eligible for default IP cover you can apply for optional IP cover with a benefit payment period to age 65 and a waiting period of either 60 or 30 days. Higher insurance fees will apply.

When applying you must meet the eligibility criteria and you may need to provide the insurer with medical evidence.

If you have IP cover it is not automatically increased to match increases in your annual salary. If you want your cover to reflect your salary increase, and you apply within 2 months of you getting a pay rise or when you were first aware of the increase, the increase in your cover will be automatically accepted by the insurer provided the increase in cover does not exceed the automatic acceptance limit of a maximum increase of 3 units each financial year.

If you have default IP cover, you can apply for additional IP cover subject to maximum cover limits and meeting the insurer's underwriting requirements.

If you apply for insurance cover, you will be provided with an amount of interim accident cover (subject to limits) until your application has been assessed and approved (or declined) by the insurer. Terms and conditions apply to interim accident cover.

You will be advised of the insurer's decision in writing in relation to any application for cover. Exclusions, special conditions and/or premium loadings may be applied.

Insured terminal illness benefit

If you hold death cover and you are diagnosed with a terminal illness you may be eligible for an insured terminal illness benefit. The benefit amount is equal to the lesser of:

- > The amount of death cover that you have as at the date that a medical practitioner first certifies that the illness that you are suffering from will lead to your death within 12 months of the date of their certification, and
- > $2.5 million.

When an insured terminal illness benefit is admitted or paid to you:

- > Any TPD cover that you may have ends immediately; and
- > Any death cover that you may have will be reduced by the amount of the insured terminal illness benefit that has been admitted or paid by the insurer. If your insured terminal illness benefit is equal to the amount of your death cover, your death cover will cease to apply. If your insured terminal illness benefit is less than the amount of your death cover, then your death cover will be equal to the reduced amount.

Cost of insurance cover

The cost of your cover depends on your personal circumstances including the type and level of cover you have, your age, your occupation waiting and benefit periods. The cost of age-based cover is calculated on a cost per unit basis.

The cost of fixed cover is calculated on the insurance fee rate table per $1,000 of cover and depending on your age.

Please refer to our additional guide titled 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for full information about the cost of insurance cover and how to calculate for your personal circumstances. Any premium loadings applied by the insurer when you make an application are in addition to the standard costs.

Duty to take reasonable care

Where an application for insurance or an increase to the benefit amount needs to be made by you, the duty to take reasonable care not to make a misrepresentation to the insurer will apply when answering any questions.

A misrepresentation is a false answer, an answer that is only partially true, or an answer which does not fairly reflect the truth.

Key life events and transferring cover

You can obtain extra insurance whenever a qualifying life event occurs for you, for example when you take out a mortgage for your home, marry, divorce or have a new baby.

You may also transfer any existing insurance held by other insurers provided certain eligibility criteria can be met. All insurance options are subject to relevant terms and conditions in the insurance policy. Please refer to 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide for more information.

Reducing or cancelling your cover

You may cancel or reduce your cover at any time:

- > Over the phone by calling our Contact Centre on 1300 300 820, or
- > Going online to the secure member portal, or
- > A written notification to cancel or reduce your cover, or
- > A completed Insurance application/variation form (which can be downloaded from visionsuper.com.au/resources/forms-and-publications).

Any reduction or cancellation of cover will take effect from the earlier of the date on which we receive your request, or the date specified in your request (provided that it is after the date on which we receive your request). If you cancel your cover within 60 days of first receiving the cover, it will be deemed to not have commenced and no insurance fees will be deducted from your account. Any requests received after this time will be effective from the date the request is received, and insurance fees will be deducted up until that date. Requests to reduce or cancel cover are subject to the Fund rules and the relevant insurance policy/policies applying to your cover. If your account balance is insufficient to cover the insurance fees your cover will be cancelled. You will no longer be able to claim an insured benefit for injury or illness arising after your cover has been cancelled.

Cessation of cover and exclusions

Insurance cover may cease on the occurrence of certain events such as when your account has been inactive⁴ for more than 16 consecutive months. There are also certain exclusions which apply to the cover, such as where your death or disability is caused by war or suicide (including attempted suicide) or, in some circumstances results from a pre-existing medical condition.

⁴Inactive means that no amounts (contributions or rollovers) have been received into your account for a period of 16 months or more. For further information please refer to our additional guide titled 8. Insurance in your super – additional guide.

Claims

If you make an insurance claim, the Trustee and the insurer will determine whether you are entitled to a benefit based on the terms of the policy/policies, the Fund's rules, the law, and the level of cover that you have under the policy/policies.

Through your employer

Most workers have the right to choose the fund that they would like their super to be paid into. You can select Vision Super by giving your employer a Choice of fund form.

If you notify your employer that Vision Super is your chosen fund, or you do not make a choice and you do not have a stapled fund, your employer will register you as a Vision Super Saver member.

Once you are registered as a member, you will receive confirmation of your membership. You will also receive forms to enable you to choose an investment option, nominate a death beneficiary(ies) or apply for a different level of insurance cover (if that level is different to any default insurance cover you may be eligible for, as summarised in section 8).
